VACATIONS FELT IN REALTY MARKET

Absence From City of Brokers and Investors Pulls Down Week's Business.

BEAT FIRST WEEK OF JULY

Dealers Transfer 349 Lots and Parcels of Land Within Six Days.

Vacation time is beginning to be felt in the real estate business. The exodus from the city of a number of brokers and of many investors is having its imprint on the market, which, during the third week of July, displayed a Might decline in the number of transctions effected. The brokers succeeded during the past six days in closing 144 trades, a falling off of two sales from the daily average of the preceding

Although the brokers made thirteen sales less than in the second week of the month, they surpassed by ten sales the number of deals completed in the initial week of July.

The volume of trading this week, however, makes the best showing of the month. In a fewer number of sales, there were included 107 more lots and parcels of real estate than changed hands in the preceding week. The voiume of trading of the last six days comprised 165 more lots than in the first week of July. During the week closing today 349 lots and parcels of real eswere transferred on the record. was only one sale behind the best day's activity of the preceding week. Yesterday's sales totaled thirty-one. Thursday's sales totaled thirty-one. Thursday ranked next with twenty-seven deals effected. There were twenty-five sales recorded. An aggregate of twenty-two deals was reported on Wednesday, but Monday's business reached the low level of fitteen transactions.

As is befitting warm-weather trading, the outlying suburbs returned to the lead of the week's activity, showing a total of 174 parcels conveyed. The northwest ranked second with 68 lots transferred, while the nearrurban district was in third place, having 58 lots to its credit. A close race was run in the trading in property east of the Capitol. The southeast won out by a margin of one lot, showing 23 lots sold as compared with 22 in the northeast. There were lots sold in the southwest. Frobably the most valuable property transferred during the past week was the old Bureau of Education building on the northeast corner of Eighth and G streets northwest, facing the Parent Office and on the corner opposite the Ouray building. The property was purchased in month.

RUSSIA MAY GET PULLMAN MANSION

John Hays Hammond May Sell Residence to Nation for Home for Embassy.

There is a strong probability that the Russian embassy will obtain the Pullman residence on the Avenue of the Presidents, after all, it was learned today from a well-informed real estate source. The fact that the Russian government has made available to the ambassador an appropriation for the purchase of an embassy building here, which was announced at Newport, R. L. today, has reawakened interest in the location of the embassy's future home. John Hays Hammond recently purchased the Pullman residence, one of the most imposing in the city, while negotiations were still in progress by the Russian embassy. The Hammonds planned to occupy the house in the fall, but it was said today that there is likelihood that they would resell it to the Russian representative. Ambassador Bakhmeteff is spending the summer at the Rhode Island resort, and at least one Washington real estate man will go one Washington real estate man will go there within a day or two to confer with him in regard to the embassy's

PLANNED IN HOUSE

New Proposal Contemplates Powerful Body to Supervise All Appropriation Bills.

A new and promising plan for a budget committee in the House of Representatives, which will have general oversight of appropriations, and which, it is hoped, will tend to bring about conomy and better regulated expenditures, is being evolved by the House The latest plan contemplates a power ful House committee, which will have general supervision of the appropriation general supervision of the appropriation or supply bills, and which will be a check on the powerful House Appropriations Committee and the other committees that have jurisdiction of appropriation bills.

As the situation stands now, there is almost no way of heading off the House Appropriations Committee when once it determines on expenditures. It is a committee of great power, not excelled in authority by any committee in Congress.

Congressman James T. Lloyd, of Missouri, long head of the Democratic Congressional committee, is credited with originating the plan. Conferences have been held among the leaders about the proposal and more will follow. Make-up of Committee.

The proposition is simple enough. It women Evangelists twenty-one members, of which the Speaker of the House shall be, officio, chairman. The committee is consist, aside from the Speaker, of the following: The majority leader, who is now Mr. Underwood; the two minority o'clock Sunday and 7 p. m. at Fourleaders, now Messrs. Mann and Murdock; the chairman of the Rules Committee, now Judge Henry of Texas; the Gospel Mission, will be of special indock; the chairman of the Rules Comchairman of each of the eleven committees on expenditures, and five other members of the House.

The expenditures committees are not to be confused with the committees on appropriations and other committees, such as the Naval, Military Affairs, and Indian, which make up appropriation bills. For each department there is a committee on expenditures in that department, such as the Committee on Expenditures in the Postoffice Department, of which Congressman Pepper is chairman.

Misses Gould and Cartwright, successful women evangelists from Cincinnati, Ohio, will speak and sing at the above services. Evangelist Thomas E. Philips, of New York, will give an address at the Mission hall at 8 p. m. Subject: "A Run For Life." The tendency will be, not merely toward holding down expenditures, but toward a more wise and just distribution of expenditures. The Appropriations Committees wil find their demands for funds not hampered unduly if the true purpose is carried out, but so supervised that their parts of the committees are proposed expenditure, can

It is expected there will be strenuous opposition in some quarters to the plan. The committees that now control the appropriations are not expected to relish it. Undoubtedly, however, the House will be forced sooner or later to come to some such method of regulating expenditures.

With the prophecies of the book of Daniel as his subject, President E. F. Albertsworth, of the Washington So-People, last night predicted the early dawn of the Millennium and by comparisons of the early prophecy with subsequent history showed that the second coming of the Messiah was not tant.

"In the seventh chapter of the book of Daniel are described four terrible beasts—a lion with eagle wings, a bear, a leopard with four heads mad four wings, and a nondescript beast with ten horns," said Mr. Albertsworth, whose address was delivered in the Seventh Day Adventists' church at Tweifth and M streets northwest.

Beasts As Kingdoms.

"We are told that these four beasts are to be four universal kingdoms and that out of the fourth beast ten kingthat out of the fourth beast ten kingdoms shall arise. Since Daniel's time there have been just four such kingdoms, Babylon, Medio Persis, Greece and Rome. From the division of Rome ten kingdoms apeared; the Allemani, or Germany; the Franks, or France; the Burgundians, or Switzerland; the Suevi, or Portugal; the Anglosaxons, or England; the Visigoths, or Spain; the Lombards, or Italy; the Vandals; the Heruli, and the Ostrogoths. "In verses eight and twenty-four of the seventh chapter we read that a little horn or kingdom 'diverse from the first' would appear and 'pluck up' or 'subdue' three horns or kingdoms. And so it was. The religious power coming into prominence at the beginning of the sixth century plucked up or destroyed the Vandals, the Ostrogoths, and the Heruli.

"Now where are we in the stream of time? We have passed the bear, the lion, and the leopard. The dreadful beast with ten horns has been passed. Another brief period and then the coming of the Lord in glory to convey His people to the Holy City."

It will be "Lawyer's Day" at the Centennial Baptist Church, Eighth and I streets northeast, tomorrow, and two attorneys will address the congregation, Charles E. The idea is to make each of the committees on expenditures a real committee instead of a figurehead, as in the past. Each of these committees will hold hearings and study closely the question of the appropriations needed for the department over which it has jurisdiction. It will report the facts to the budget committee. That committee will have the reports of all the expenditures committees. It will have the majority leader, who is chairman of Ways and Means, to advise it what the revenues will amount to.

To Seek Wise Distribution.

Having digested all this information, it will be able to report to the House just how much money ought to be expenditure.

The tent services, which were conducted so successfully last summer by the Salvation Army at their location at Maryland avenue and Fourteenth streets mortheast, will be resumed for this summer, the first service being held tomorrow evening at 8:15 o'clock. These tent services will be held every evening at 8:15 except on Thursday and Saturday, when the meeting will be in the Salvation Army Hall at 330 Pennsylvaria avenue northwest. A number of visiting officers will address these meetings, the names of whom will be announced from time to time.

Meetings to Be Held

Open-air gospel meetings, which will continue for a month, will begin to-morrow morning at 11 o'clock in the grove which surrounds the Union Bappose is carried out, but so supervised that unless a proposed expenditure can be justified it will encounter strong and intelligent opposition.

Generally speaking, under the present practice, the appropriations committees get their way because they have almost a monopoly of information about the needs of the various departments and bureaus of the Government.

It is expected there will be strenuous opposition in some quarters to the plan. The committees that now control the
